WIFE SLAYER DIES IN CHAIR

Chester S. Jordan, Who Murdered Vaudeville Actress, Maintains to the Last His Self Control.

Boston, Mass.-At 12:14:30 in the morning in the state prison at Charlestown, Chester S. Jordan, 38, explated in the electric chair the murder of his wife, Honora (Shannon) Jordan, who was a vaudeville actress in their home in Somerville four years ago.

Like Bertram G. Spencer, who died in the same chair recently, Jordan maintained to the last the self control which has sustained him during all these months and like Spencer he chose a Christian Science reader to attend him to the chair.

On the march from the death cell he was as erect as his official escort theirs. He took als seat as if care free and the current was turned on. A second shock was given and he was pronounced dead at 12:15:21. The body is to be buried in Indianapolis, Jordan's native place.

MURDERER'S LAST STATEMENT

Man Who Slew Wife Tells How He Embraced Christian Science Faith Before Being Electrocuted.

Boston, Sept. 25.-Chester S. Jordan, who was electrocuted for the murder of his wife in Somerville four years ago, left the following written statement regarding his conversion to Christian Science faith:

"As a child I had been brought un in the Presbyterian faith and in later life had investigated to my satisfaction other creeds and doctrines. But they did not seem to satisfy; something seemed lacking and finally I drifted into a condition of indifference. On entering the jail at East Cambridge in 1908 I was given a copy 'Science and Health' by Mary Baker Eddy, and though at first I read a number of its chapters, I was unable to grasp the import of its many truths and soon laid it aside. Two years or so later I again took up my 'Science and Health' and little by little during the year and a half since that time thought began to unfold in my conscience.

'My whole life and its purpose broadened and I recognized that my trouble had not been visited upon me by God-that error, evil and sin were impersonal, and that man, as the image and likeness of God (as the expression of spirit) is inseparable from divine principle—God—and therefore uninfluenced by the so-called laws of the flesh. In this, my last hour on earth, I wish to express my penitence for having been a channel for error

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Cobb, Mr. and and for the wrongs to my fellow man, especially to my wife, Honora, for whom I am holding and hold my thoughts of love."

WILSON MAN WINS IN JERSEY

Judge William Hughes is Selected for United States Senate by Democrats in Primary Election.

New York, Sept. 25.-In the New Jersey primaries just held, Judge William Hughes, selected by Gov. Wilson to make the fight against former Senator James Smith, jr., for Democratic endorsement for United States senator, defeated Smith by an overwhelming vote.

The Progressives, who nominated candidates by petition in Hudson county and then fought for their endorsement by the Republicans, carried Hudson county, nominating the 12 men for the assembly and three for congress.
